In Johnson Case

Police Still Looking For Murder Suspect

An intensive Murray Police Department investigation continues today into the strangulation death of Vivian Gail Johnson, 21, found dead in the bathtub of her mobile home Friday evening.

A police spokesman today said police are checking out a number of leads in the case.

A woman living next door discovered Miss Johnson at her C-3 Hale's Trailer Court mobile home about 6 p.m. Friday nude and floating face down in a tub of water, police said. She was found after a neighbor had tried to call her several times by telephone earlier in the day Friday.

Dr. David Barrett, a pathologist at Murray-Calloway County Hospital said tests Monday afternoon indicated the woman was not sexually molested, police said.

Vivian Gail Johnson
Dr. Barrett and Calloway County Coroner Tommy Walker ruled the woman died of strangulation and/or drowning.

Police said the woman was last seen alive about 12:30 a.m. Friday after she drove a friend home.

Police say they have interviewed some 20-25 persons in connection with the case.

Police spokesman said Monday they were baffled about a motive in the strangulation death. They said the door of her trailer was unlocked. The phone was off the hook, but police said Miss Johnson's acquaintances said she often did that when she wanted to avoid taking phone calls.

A spokesman said preliminary indications are her assailant attacked her in the living room of her home, strangled her there and then placed the body into bathroom tub. There was no evidence of a struggle in the bathroom, police said.

Police said there were signs of a struggle in the mobile home — they found a broken ashtray in the living room and the woman's blouse and bra appeared to have been ripped off and were lying in the bathroom doorway. Police found buttons from the blouse in the living room.

Police theorized the blouse may have been used as the murder weapon.

Miss Johnson, who worked at Big K in Murray since before Christmas, quit her job Wednesday and enrolled at Murray State University Thursday.

She was expected to be a part time student employee in the MSU registrar's office. Miss Johnson was to have been a sophomore majoring in business. She was last enrolled in MSU in the summer of 1977.

Newspaper Workshop

Calloway County School System teachers spent most of the working day Monday involved in an "in-service" training program on using the newspaper as a classroom teaching tool. Pictured at the left, instructor Carolyn Light of Murray High tells how she uses newspapers in the classroom. Below, teachers examine materials taken from newspapers that can be used as teaching aids. Memphis Commercial Appeal, along with The Murray Ledger & Times and the Mayfield Messenger sponsor the "Newspaper In The Classroom" program locally. Presentations Monday also came from Shirley Williams of the Commercial Appeal and Al Wilson, an elementary principal at Emerson School, Granite City, Ill., whose school has used the program.

History Will Be Made At TVA Meet

The Tennessee Valley Authority board of directors will hold a regular meeting in the West Kentucky area for the first time in history this week. The meeting of the board is scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 18, at 9:30 a.m. in the Jaycee Civic Center in Paducah.

According to Bill Barker, superintendent of the Murray Electric System, the board plans to hold one meeting each month outside of Knoxville, TVA's headquarters.

Barker said the board has been invited to hold a future meeting in Murray but that no date has been confirmed for such a meeting.

One of the major items on Thursday's agenda will be a discussion of a plan to offer interruptible power arrangements to more industrial power users as one step to help maintain power supplies and hold down rising costs, according to the TVA information office.

Under this type of arrangement, TVA has the right to reduce the availability of interruptible power at any time, provided the interruptions do not exceed certain specified levels. In return, the industry gets a lower power rate.

A dozen of TVA's larger industrial power customers have this type of interruptible power supply now, and cutbacks in their power during peak demand periods help TVA maintain power supplies to other consumers.

Under the new proposal, a similar option would be extended to smaller industries, including many of those served by local electric systems. Interruptible power would be made available to all customers capable of using 5,000 kW of this type of power, and TVA will consider requests by industry to make interruptible power available in amounts as little as 1,000 kW, equal to the demand of about 100 electrically heated homes on a cold winter morning.

The present minimum interruptible amount per customers is 30,000 kW.

Project Apollo Is Refunded Into '80; MSU, TVA Sponsor

Project Apollo, an outdoor adventure camping program administered jointly by Murray State University and the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) for Upward Bound students, has been refunded through 1980 and expanded to include all 50 states.

Funded by the U. S. Office of Education, the National Demonstration Project serves 500 Upward Bound

Steven Dunn Nominated To Naval Academy

WASHINGTON, D. C. — U. S. Congressman Carroll Hubbard has nominated Steven Lee Dunn of Murray to compete for an appointment to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland.

Dunn is the 18-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob E. Dunn of 601 Meadow Lane, Murray. A senior at Murray High School, Dunn is active in the Murray High School Band and also on the school track team.

students annually. Funding for the current year is $144,800. More than 2,000 high school students from 32 states have participated in Project Apollo since its inception in 1973.

Director Bill Holt emphasized that the project would not be possible if Murray State were not adjacent to Land Between The Lakes (LBL), TVA's 170,000-acre national recreation area. TVA provides Project Apollo with a basecamp in the Pond Hollow biovue area, resource personnel vital to staff training, and complete use of the LBL, where most of the program activities take place.

"Apollo adheres closely to the philosophy of the internationally renowned Outward Bound schools," Holt said. "Mountaineering activities include rock climbing, rappelling, caving, backpacking, map and compass land navigation, canoeing, and ropes courses. Programs are designed to provide an opportunity for personal growth through safe outdoor adventure."

Permanent staff members, in addition to Holt, are: Larry Wood, a Murray State recreation graduate, acting assistant director in charge of field services; Nancy Jones, Murray, logistics coordinator; Charlette Ellis, Murray, secretary and psychometrist. Marvin Keeling, Mayfield, assistant director, is on leave completing work on the M.A. degree at the University of North Florida on Jacksonville.

Part-time staff employed during the spring, summer, and fall, when actual courses are in session, includes five to seven additional instructors, all graduates of Outward Bound Schools with extensive mountaineering experience.

Project Apollo will be expanded this year to include a satellite basecamp in the Appalachians to serve 300 additional students from the Eastern Seaboard. A third satellite basecamp is expected to be established in California in 1980 to serve 500 students from the West Coast.

He has made presentations to several Equal Opportunity Educational Associations in support of Project Apollo, including the Mid-America Association in Lake Geneva, Wis.; the Midwestern Association in Mt. Airy, Pa.; the Southwestern Association in New Orleans; and the Association for Equality and Excellence in Education in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Iranians Shout 'Shah Is Gone' As He Heads For Safety In U.S.

By ROBERT H. REID
Associated Press Writer

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi left Iran today for Egypt and the United States, touching off jubilant celebrations throughout Tehran.

"The shah is gone forever!" people chanted as millions poured into the streets, showering each other with candies and rose water, cheering and shouting with joy.

Motorists honked their horns and jumped from their cars and hugged each other.

The 59-year-old ruler, in a statement to the official Paris news agency, said he was going "on vacation because I am feeling tired." He left his royal powers with a Regency Council and appealed to the Iranian people to preserve the monarchy during his absence.

The shah said the length of his stay abroad would depend on his "physical condition." But many believe the vacation will turn into permanent exile and the end of the dynasty his soldier-father founded 54 years ago.

"I hope the government will be able to make amends for the past and also succeed in laying the foundation for the future," said the shah. "This work needs a long period of cooperation and patriotism in its utmost meaning. Our economy must start rolling again and we must have better planning for the future."

Ayatullah Khomeini, the Shiite Moslem religious leader who is the shah's most influential opponent, congratulated the "heroic people of Iran" on the shah's departure and said it was "the first step toward ending the Pahlavi dynasty."

Khomeini, an exile in France, said he would return to Iran "at the first proper time" and would name his own "provisional government" to supplant Prime Minister Shapour Bakhtiar and the new government appointed by the shah.

The lower house of the Majlis, the Iranian Parliament, confirmed Bakhtiar and his cabinet today by a vote of 149-43 with 13 abstentions. The Senate gave it a vote of confidence Monday.

Sheriff's Department Charges Kirksey Man

Calloway County Sheriff's Department has charged a Kirksey man in connection with a weekend burglary at Calloway County High.

According to a sheriff's department spokesman, county authorities have charged Lee Beach, 20, Kirksey, with third degree burglary and unlawful transaction with a minor.

The department also arrested a 16-year-old Murray youth in connection with the case, the spokesman said. The spokesman said authorities recovered stereo speakers and money reported taken in the weekend burglary.

County authorities are still looking for the person or persons who broke into Bucy's Grocery at Almo Heights and Kentucky Candy Company in Almo last weekend.

The spokesman said Bucy's Grocery personnel listed $200 in cash and cigarettes missing after that break-in. Kentucky Candy Company reported assorted office machines and wood-working machines missing in that burglary.

'Black Sheep' May Be White In Session

By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The "black sheep squadron" in the Kentucky Senate has become the white sheep majority as surprises continue to unfold in the current special session.

But the temporary control by the Democratic dissidents of the upper chamber poses the possibility of a confrontation with the House, where the state administration retains command.

"We're very concerned with that," said Sen. Lowell Hughes, D-Ashland, one of the leaders of the independents.

"We want to avert a collision course."

All this jockeying may intensify during the second week of the session, to Gov. Julian Carroll's chagrin. Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall, who called the session in Carroll's absence from the state, has proposed several tax relief programs. Carroll said there are no surpluses to finance them.

"The prime thing is to look at the budget," Hughes said in an interview. "We wanted to get the information directly, as opposed to going through handpicked (administration-dominated) committees."

Thus, the black sheep carried out a quiet coup by forming a committee of the whole and installing Sen. John Berry, D-Turners Station, as chairman. That parliamentary move in effect bypasses the usual procedure and gives all 38 senators more input into decisions.

Hughes said he is not so optimistic as to believe the independents will gain permanent control. They previously totaled only about one-third of the Senate membership.

"But I am convinced we will be in the majority (long enough) to act totally independent of the governor, lieutenant governor and anybody else," he said. "We do not intend to be led down the primrose path."

Hughes said the normal Senate leadership went along with the committee of the whole plan "because they had no choice," and that the dissidents have not been fooled into thinking the basic situation has changed.

"(The administration forces) have decided they'd better work with us to keep things under control," Hughes said. "Why else would the leadership agree to caucus with the black sheep when they have specifically excluded us the last two sessions?"

The Senate independents are helped by the fact that Mrs. Stovall, Senate president, obviously is not with the administration and that Sen. Joe Prather, D-Vine Grove, president pro tem, is a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor whose outlook may not dovetail at all these days with that of the governor.

They apparently will not be helped by the status quo in the House, where Speaker William Kenton, D-Lexington, and Majority Leader Bobby Richardson, D-Glasgow, keep the reins of power and are presumed loyal to the administration.

Hughes indicated some Senate black sheep members have talked with House independents to obtain an accurate assessment of what is occurring in the House.

"We have considered the possibility that the governor wants to ignore the Senate and concentrate on the House," he said.

If the Senate and House do take different paths on tax relief and possible budget cuts, the conference committees which are supposed to resolve such disagreements may be busy soon.

Preventing foot odors

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I must comment on your column about foot odors. I am 55 and wear sturdy nurses shoes daily and have tried everything. I find standard foot soaps and powders irritating. Feminine deodorant sprays, mild and effective, do the trick. Cleanliness comes first. Plain cornstarch sprinkled lightly in the shoes helps also. Stockings with cotton feet are better than nylons.

A wintergreen lotion for the feet after cleansing is heavenly at the end of a hot summer day. And, as you said, open sandals for off-duty hours are great. I also sponge the insides of my shoes periodically with a mild solution of water and laundry bleach and I haven't had a complaint in years.

DEAR READER — Thank you for your comments. I've received a lot of letters from people who have had foot odor problems. This merely serves to point out how common the problem is. I'm also intrigued about how many different forms of treatment people use.

The most important thing, of course, is to find a treatment that works for you. As I stressed in my earlier column, frequent washing of the feet is important. Changing shoes so that you have a different pair of shoes each day while another pair is airing out is also important.

I agree that you should use cotton or wool socks and change them as often as twice a day if need be. These are much better than any of the synthetic socks which tend to trap moisture and enhance odors. The same

DEAR DR. LAMB — I see mangoes for sale and want to put up a sign, "Mangoes May Be Dangerous To Your Health." My husband had never had a bad reaction to any food in 48 years. Then when we were in Honolulu, he had a fruit salad that contained mangoes. He was rushed to the hospital and was given adrenaline because he had trouble in breathing. He was the only one of 70 guests who had trouble although they all ate the same food so it wasn't the quality of the food.

At first the doctor thought it was a fish allergy but that didn't prove to be the case. Then I read an article in a magazine where a man said he broke out in hives within minutes of eating his first mango and nearly passed out and had to be hospitalized and given cortisone and adrenaline.

Apparently, mangoes seem to have this effect in less than 3 percent of the population. I wish you would tell those 3 percent what might happen if they eat mangoes. I realize that writing this, if you publish it, might not be good for the mango market but it might save a few lives in the process.

DEAR READER — You're describing a severe food reaction and there are an awful lot of commonly used foods that will produce reactions in susceptible people. The reaction can be very severe as your husband experienced. There are people who are allergic to strawberries, tomatoes, various kinds of pickles and peppers and the list goes on to be as long as your arm. That doesn't mean that any of these foods are bad.

Certainly mangoes are excellent food and I personally enjoy them very much. If you have reactions to any food, whether it is mangoes or strawberries, then you ought to avoid that particular food.

FOR WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1979

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)

You may have to go to the top to get approval for an overall plan that will dispense with today's minor aggravations at work.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20)

Much can be accomplished re a difficult romantic situation, but, still, it's a shame that you have to work so hard to have fun.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20)

You can finalize plans now re a residential change or a domestic problem of long standing. Be sure to stick with the facts.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22)

Contracts and agreements should be ironed out now to your satisfaction. Stick to the issues at hand and bypass irrelevancies.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22)

Balance your check book, put your accounts in order, and be efficient in financial planning. Avoid the temptation to spend extra funds.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22)

Romantic questions are to the fore. You may be ready now for a change in status of a serious involvement. Talking things over relieves uncertainty.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)

Some time spent alone allows you to come up with a solution to a long-standing problem. Behind-the-scenes activity pays off!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)

Don't get caught up in somebody else's soap opera; but with logic and good advice, you can help another find his way. Be sympathetic — up to a point.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)

Major career developments require a heads-up approach. Concentrate on facts and realistic assessments and less on your personality.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19)

Bring creative projects to the attention of those who can help. The right agent, public relations campaign, or adviser gets the ball rolling.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18)

You'll need time by yourself to do the necessary research re a financial deal. Don't let friends distract you from your purpose.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20)

With help you'll solve a problem that's been bothering you a long time. In dealing with past mistakes, you'll open the door to the future.

YOU BORN TODAY are more interested in sociological questions than the typical Capricorn. This interest could lead you into government affairs, or if academically inclined, to literature and history. In business, you'd succeed as a banker, investment counselor, or corporation head. Avoid a tendency to use people for your ends. Your best success will come with a genuine concern for the welfare of your fellow man. With a sense of universal principles, you'll touch the heart of mankind.

Vows Are Read On Saturday

Mrs. John Joseph Eastland

Wedding vows were exchanged Saturday afternoon, Jan. 13, by Patricia Lynn Starks and John Joseph Eastland, at the College Church of Christ in Searcy, Ark. Parents of the bride couple are Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Starks of Florence, Ala., and Mrs. J. M. Eastland of Tyler, Texas and the late Mr. Eastland. The bride's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Fisk of Murray and the late Mr. and Mrs. Urban Starks.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a formal length gown of white chiffon and chantilly lace. Pearls underscored the Empire midriff of the lace-covered, molded bodice and edged the Queen Anne neckline. The full Bishop sleeves were enhanced with vertical lines and scalloped bands of lace, closing at the wrists with tiny covered buttons.

The softly flowing skirt featured an overlay edged in lace and ruffled flounce sweeping to a full chapel train. A matching pearl-studded lace tiara held the tiered veil of bridal silk illusion encircled with lace. She carried a cascade of yellow rose buds, stephanotis, baby's breath and lilies of the valley, centered by a white orchid.

Officiating at the double-ring ceremony was the bride's father. A program of nuptial music was presented by the Harding University A Cappella Chorus directed by Dr. Kenneth Davis and featured a solo by the bride, "I Pledge My Love."

Attending the bride were Patti Dillard, maid of honor, and bridesmaids Charlotte Yingling, Sarah Fitzgerald, Nita Allen and Star Pruett.

The groom's cousin, Kevin Sartin, served as best man. Groomsmen were Ray Winters, David Johnson, Terry Tindel, and Carl Powell, III. Serving as ushers were the bride's brothers, Walter and Paul Starks.

A reception was hosted at the church following the ceremony.

The couple will honeymoon in the ski area of Colorado and will reside in Houston, Texas.

Good Sam Club Plans Meet Friday; Officers Elected

The Twin Lakers Good Sam Club will have a dessert party at the North Branch of the Peoples Bank on Friday, Jan. 19, at 7 p.m. with Rudolph and Opal Howard as wagonmasters and Jimmy and Marilyn Herndon as assistants.

Slides of their Alaskan travels will be shown by Harold and Ruth Eversmeyer. Other members having special vacation or camping pictures are asked to bring them to show at the meeting.

Each family is asked to bring a dessert for the Friday evening social held in place of the usual campout, not scheduled due to the cold weather.

At the December potluck dinner held at the North Branch, the wagonmasters were Harold and Ruth Eversmeyer who cooked the ham, and the assistants were Jimmy and Sharon Graham.

Graham, vice-president, presided in the absence of the president, John Bowker, who was in Memphis, Tenn., with his wife, Joan, who had undergone back surgery there. Bowker had Gayle Adams present a special plaque to Ned and Beth Wilson as the "outstanding campers" of the year.

New officers elected for the year 1979 were Rudolph Howard, president; Andy Rogers, vice-president; Carol Kelly, secretary-treasurer. Linda Rogers is the retiring secretary-treasurer.

Noted in as new members of the club were Lloyd and Fay Jacks. Wagonmasters and assistants were planned for 1979.

Attending the December meeting were Gayle, Angel, and Melissa Adams, J. B. and Jo Burkeen, Nix and Margery Crawford, A. A. Doherty, Harold, Ruth, Elaine, and Denise Eversmeyer, Jimmy, Sharon, and Ginger Graham, Jimmy, Marilyn, and Cheryl Herndon, Bill and Norette Hill, Rudolph and Opal Howard, Dan, Carol, Sean, and Kevin Kelly, Hunter and Winnie Love, Ashley Thurman, Andy, Linda, Greg, and Lori Rogers, T. G. and Estelle Shelton, Jack and Betty Wagar, and Ned and Beth Wilson.

Nursing A Grudge

By Abigail Van Buren

1979 by Chicago Tribune & N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My wife, Bess, is a registered nurse. She worked until our children came along, but quit to be a full-time mother. The kids are all out of school, and Bess went back to part-time nursing because she enjoys it. I have a good income and it's not necessary for her to work at all.

My mother recently suffered a serious stroke. She divorced my father when I was four, and devoted her life to raising me. She made many sacrifices to send me to the best schools, etc. Mother is in the hospital now, but when she is well enough, I want her to make her home with us. No way will I put her in a nursing home.

I told Bess this and she said, "Fine, but you had better plan on getting someone in to take care of her because I am going back to work full-time."

I was shocked. My wife, a registered nurse, would rather care for strangers than stay at home and nurse my mother! She knows I never could repay my mother for all she's done for me. What do you make of this?

MIXED EMOTIONS

DEAR MIXED: Your wife obviously does not share your deep feeling of obligation insofar as your mother is concerned. Hire a nurse to take care of your mother and take good care of yourself.

DEAR ABBY: I was divorced at 57, after 30 years. I lost my husband to his secretary, who was 25.

I soon found out that men my age prefer women half my age. I didn't want to settle for a sick old man.

I joined the weird world of wandering widows, and made the best of it.

I got a job and decided to be good to myself, instead of waiting on a man who'd never appreciate it.

I still weigh 130, have beautiful clothes, do what I want to do, eat when I'm hungry, sleep when I'm tired, and have had some exotic vacations!

I have never been happier! And as for my ex-husband — who needs him?

H. IN BENSENVILLE, ILL.

DEAR H.: That 25-year-old girl he married.

DEAR ABBY: Whenever I've seen a letter in your column about a family feud, I've wanted to write and tell you about my own experience, but never got around to it. Today I'm getting it off my chest with the hope that some feuding families will patch up their foolish quarrels.

When I was in my teens, my parents and an aunt and uncle got into an argument about some petty thing that got so blown out of proportion they quit speaking to each other. My cousins and I still associated with each other, but we didn't go into each other's houses because of our feuding parents.

Things went on that way until one morning our phone rang at 7. It was my aunt calling to tell us that her son had been killed in Vietnam. My folks went over there immediately and, of course, the feud was forgotten.

I hope other families who are feuding will open their eyes and put their petty grievances aside before it takes tragedy to bring them together.

PICKLED PIGS' FEET
For those cooks who tell me they "want to pickle pigs' feet," but can't seem to find a recipe.

4 pigs' feet, split
3 cups vinegar
1 onion, sliced
12 peppercorns
1 bay leaf
6 whole cloves
1 tablespoon salt
Scrub pigs' feet thoroughly and place in a large saucepot. Cover with water, add vinegar and heat to the boiling point. Skim. Add remaining ingredients and simmer until fork-tender — 2 to 3 hours. Chill in liquid and serve cold. Makes 4 servings.
Food Editor's Note: Small pigs' feet are more gelatinous than the large ones, but the latter offer more meat. — C.B.

Special Birthday Celebration Sunday

Clarence and Carmen Horton

Two special birthdays will be celebrated here on Sunday, Jan. 21. Honored will be Clarence Horton who will 80 and his wife, Carmen Jones Horton, who will be 75.

The celebration will be in the form of a reception at the home of one of their daughters, Mrs. Purdom (Jo) Lovett, Coles Camp Ground Church Road, west of U. S. Highway 641 North.

All friends and relatives are invited to call between the hours of 1 to 2:30 p.m. The family requests that guests not bring gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Horton moved to Murray in 1942 while Mr. Horton was with the Tennessee Valley Authority working at Gilbertsville. Mr. Horton, in his travels with the TVA, had visited many places looking for a place to rear his six children and looking for a college for his children to attend. While at Gilbertsville, he visited Murray and realized this was the town he had been trying to locate for his family.

Mrs. Horton was born in Poteau, Okla., and Mr. Horton in Gun Town, Miss. They are both members of the Goshen United Methodist Church. Mr. Horton, tired of traveling with TVA, resigned his position and started work after their move to Murray as a carpenter at Murray State University, retiring from that position 15 years ago. They have both been active in Woodmen of the World fraternal activities and Mrs. Horton was chosen "outstanding woman of the year" by one of WOW groups one year.

Their six children are Jesse Horton of Paducah, Mrs. Effie Kemp of Fulton, Miss., Clarence R. Horton of Denver, Colo., Mrs. Frances Adams of Albuquerque, N. M., Mrs. Jo Lovett of Murray, and Nick Horton of Murray. They have 18 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Miss Cindy Outland Is Honored Here Sunday

Miss Cindy Outland, Feb. 16th bride-elect of Randy Thweatt, was complimented with a "walk in household shower" on Sunday, Jan. 14, at the Community Room of the North Branch of the Peoples Bank.

The hostesses for the special prenuptial occasion were Miss Jan Cooper, Mrs. Jimmy Cooper, Mrs. Robert Houston, Mrs. Danny Outland, Mrs. Paul Von Schoech, and Mrs. Ronnie Baker.

For the event the honoree chose to wear a blue jersey dress with a corsage of red silk roses. Her mother, Mrs. Hardy Outland, her mother-in-law to be, Mrs. Joe Smith, and her grandmother, Mrs. Rozella Myers, also wore corsages of silk roses, all made by Mrs. Olive Steele.

The refreshment table was overlaid with white organza over white and centered with an arrangement of red silk roses, made by Mrs. Steele, and white flocked baby's breath. Red candles flanked the flower arrangement. Punch, white cakes decorated with red rosebuds, mints, and nuts were served.

The gifts were displayed for the guests to view.

Ninety-two persons called or sent gifts during the afternoon hours of 2 to 4 p.m.

Hope 'New' TVA Keeps Objectives

A great majority of Americans have adopted a slogan of "Drain America First," according to TVA Chairman S. David Freeman. He says it's a policy that will exhaust our limited supply of petroleum, coal and uranium unless steps are taken to awaken the public to what's happening and encourage cutbacks in the use of all forms of energy.

In a recent speech to the Commonwealth Club of California, Freeman said TVA is already implementing President Carter's desire for the agency to become a model to demonstrate solutions for problems of energy, environment and community development. He said the Tennessee Valley has an opportunity to demonstrate that quality growth is possible, and TVA's goal is to help achieve "that wonderful combination" of rural living and big city salaries.

"Life in the Tennessee Valley offers more than a paycheck," he said. "It offers beautiful surroundings and human friendliness money can't buy." But Freeman warned that America should "break its bad habits of gluttony acquired during an era of abundance, and rekindle a pioneer spirit to meet the challenges of energy and growth in the years ahead."

Nice words, and we agree with them. But will America heed these words of wisdom and advice? Will we stop or curtail making trips? Will we form car pools to save gas? Will government at all levels curtail the use of air and ground vehicles to save precious gasoline?

It's not a question of whether we should break so-called "gluttonous habits" of the past. We all know we should. It's a question of whether we will have the self discipline to break them and develop a new and durable type of society which will rely on resources that are reusable and renewable.

Mr. Freeman thinks TVA can become a model agency that will set the example by putting programs into force that will encourage energy conservation, use of solar energy and other measures.

In his California speech Mr. Freeman took an adversary role against oil companies. "The trend is toward big oil company dominance of all fuels. I can tell you from TVA's experience that you buy coal from a coal company but it soon becomes merged into an oil company. You try to buy uranium and find it's mostly owned by an oil company. If the sun were up for sale, I am sure it would be next."

He also attacked laws that "permit any builder to build anything anywhere no matter what society must pay in pollution, ugliness, or loss of prime farmland needed to grow enough food for future generations."

TVA has done a lot, not only for the Tennessee Valley but for the entire nation since it came into being in the 1930s.

Mr. Freeman now sees for TVA a new challenge, an adversary role vastly different from the one it had in the beginning when its primary effort was to produce more and more electric power to meet an ever-growing demand. Its role is now to seek cutbacks in the use of electricity, fight pollution, fight the big energy companies. Whether it can make any progress in its about-face role we can't be sure.

We just hope it doesn't get so mired down in new goals, red tape and bureaucracy to the degree that it forgets its primary responsibilities — those of furnishing electric power and flood control to the people of the valley it serves.

The Story Of

Calloway County

1822-1976 By Dorothy and Kerby Jennings

Copyright, 1978

Calloway County was a territorial area carved out of Hickman County, the area known as Jackson Purchase. The Purchase was the result of a treaty with the Chickasaw Indians negotiated through the efforts of Gen. Andrew Jackson and former Gov. Isaac Shelby. Terms of the 1818 treaty are believed to have been under study since the first governor of the state, Isaac Shelby, and the federal government later agreed to pay the Indian tribe $20,000 annually for 15 years for the 7 million acres. Other claims made by the Indians were settled in a compact executed by Henry Clay, commissioner from Kentucky, and Watkins Leigh, commissioner from Virginia. Gov. Slaughter, the chief executive of the Commonwealth at the time of the purchase, died in Mercer County at the age of 63 years.

The Purchase and the Purchase District, as explained by the authors J. H. Battle, W. H. Perrin and G. C. Kniffen in "Kentucky, A History of the State," are various titles applied . . . stretches from the Ohio River to northern limits of Mississippi, embracing what is customarily known as Western Kentucky and Western Tennessee. The Kentucky portion of the Jackson Purchase embraces approximately 2,100 square miles or 1,344,000 acres. The Tennessee area is in the neighborhood of 6,000 square miles or 3,840,000 acres.

An error in surveying Kentucky in 1779-80 by Dr. Thomas Walker accounts for the Purchase area in western Kentucky penetrating farther south into Tennessee than the rest of the Commonwealth, thus accounting for the fact that Calloway County is bordered in part by Tennessee to the east. After the Indian title to the Purchase was extinguished by the treaty of 1818, the true point of latitude 30 degrees and 30 minutes was established on the Mississippi River to the Tennessee River, north to the line previously accepted as the boundary between the two states.

"The stipulations of this (Indian) treaty," says Redford in his History of Methodism, "were made in Monroe County, Mississippi, on the banks of the Tombigbee, on the road between Aberdeen and Cotton Gin, about 10 miles from the former place. The magnificent oak under whose branches Gen. Jackson and his staff, side by side with Chennubby and his chiefs, on that occasion, like those whom it sheltered, is fast fading away; but the results of that interview are found in beautiful cities, villages and county seats, that now dot the territory that was thus wrested from the savage hands, and in the school houses and churches, those bulwarks of liberty, everywhere to be seen."

Representing President James Monroe in the negotiations to gain title to the Purchase were Jackson and Shelby, who had retired from his second term in 1812, thus a formidable candidate for the work as negotiator for the Purchase. On the other hand he was not admired by the Indians because of previous grievances with the Chickasaws, thus was not the principal negotiator in the treaty. The burden of the agreement fell upon General Jackson out of respect and obvious fear as a result of the general's recent war against Indians in Florida and Mississippi. No doubt, this accounts for the treaty being commonly known as the Jackson Purchase, executed Oct. 19, 1818.

The cash terms of the treaty called for the payment in cash. Just how effectively the cash terms of the treaty were executed is not recorded in the findings, but doubt prevailed as to whom it was that got the money in subsequent years. The Purchase was not the customary domicile for the Chickasaws but was an area for hunting to this tribe which held title. Nonetheless, from time to time Chickasaws ranged the area as late as 1830, then forever they abandoned the hunting grounds.

A Day In A Boat On Reelfoot Nipped Our Fishing Aspirations

We drove over to Mayfield the other night to pay last respects to a friend of many years — Walter Lookofsky. A lengthy kidney problem had proved too much for Walter. He died peacefully in his sleep early the morning of January 3. He was 65.

It won't be the same, going into the sporting goods store he and his brother, David, ran and not receiving a friendly greeting from Walter. In recent years, he had done little more than that, greeting friends from a chair back among the shotguns, rifles and fishing rods.

It was Walter and his wife, the former Love Harris Palmer, also of Mayfield, who long ago weaned Cathryn and me from any aspirations we might ever have harbored of becoming ardent, enthusiastic fishers.

I had been out of the Army only a few months when Walter suggested one spring day that Cathryn and I join him and Love Harris for an overnight fishing trip to Reelfoot Lake down in northwest Tennessee. That sounded like fun. We decided to go, even though neither she nor I knew the first thing about fishing.

For several days before the Saturday we were to go, Walter strategically placed roach traps — wire contraptions into which the insects could crawl but designed so they could not crawl out — in the kitchens and pantries of some of the downtown restaurants.

We were going to fish for bream, he said, and bream liked roaches. He had no problem trapping all we would need.

Our big day arrived, and we packed off to Reelfoot, some 60 miles away. Cabin reservations had been made at a place called Gray's Camp right on the water.

The next morning, bright and early, Walter had us up, breakfasted and ready to fish. We had a motor. Walter had brought one along, but we had to rent a couple of boats — long, flat-bottomed wooden ones with three or four boards across them for seats.

Walter put the motor on one boat. He and Love Harris were to ride in it. He then tied one end of a rope to the bow of the boat in which Cathryn and I were to be and the other end to the rear of theirs. He would tow us out to where we were to fish. That way, we wouldn't have to rent a second motor.

Thusly rigged, we set out — put-putting out into the lake, which, roughly, is something like 20 miles long and three miles across at its widest point. It's a maze of cypress trees, sawgrass and water lilies.

After about 30 minutes of weaving in and out of all that stuff, I began to get a bit uneasy. "Where on earth are we going?" I thought. We long since had lost sight of the shore. On Reelfoot, you can't see that five minutes after you leave it because of the trees growing out of the water, left there years ago by a shift in the earth caused by an earthquake.

Letter To The Editor

Successful Fund Drive

To The Editor:

On behalf of the Kentucky Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation I wish to thank all of the volunteers and donors in Calloway County who gave so generously to our 1978 fund-drive.

The Calloway County Read-A-Thon, sponsored by Mrs. Laurel P'Pool, raised $451.59. This was the first county-wide Read-A-Thon in Western Kentucky, and the response was excellent. A special "thank you" goes to all of those students, teachers, and sponsors who helped to make the program such a success.

The door-to-door drive in Calloway County was sponsored by the 4-H, and the Future Homemakers of America at both Calloway County High School and Murray City High School. The continued support of these groups is deeply appreciated.

In Hazel the 1978 drive was sponsored by Mrs. Max Parks and the Hazel Woman's Club. And I also wish to thank them for their continued work and support.

The Business Gifts drive in Murray, and throughout Calloway County was sponsored by Mrs. Thelma Warford and

About the time I was ready to question this, Walter cut the motor. We drifted to a stop beneath a cypress tree about as big around as a rain barrel. "You and Cathryn fish here," he said, tying a tow rope to a tree limb. "Love Harris and I will go on out a little more." With that and a wave of their hands, they put-putted off through the trees, the sound of their motor gradually dying away.

Then there we sat with only the sound of birds and whatever else that makes noise in a place like that all around us. For the next six hours we slapped at flies, swatted mosquitoes, expected a cottonmouth moccasin to slither over the side into the boat at any moment and put roaches on those tiny hooks you use for bream.

Cathryn would have no part of baiting her hook. The very thought of putting her hand into that roach trap for one almost sent her into hysterics. So, it fell my lot to bait both hooks, and we must have been over the smartest school of bream in the lake. They could neatly eat the bait and never touch the hook or bobble the cork. They did that all day.

At noon, we ate our brown-bagged lunches, then went back to swatting flies and mosquitoes, watching for snakes and putting roaches on hooks, all the time keeping apprehensive ears tuned for the returning put-put sound of Walter's motor.

It was almost 4 in the afternoon when faintly in the distance we heard the put-put of a motor. "Please, Lord, let it be Walter and Love Harris," we both secretly prayed for we thought we were lost.

Gradually, the sound got louder until suddenly there they were, coming through the trees. We almost capsized our boat, so over-joyed we were to see them.

Soon we were back at Gray's Camp and on the way home — sunburned and mosquito bitten but happy to be out of that boat and off that lake.

That was my wife's first and last fishing trip. I have been on only a couple since then myself, but that experience squelched even the slightest indication that fishing had a place in our recreational future at that time.

I thought about that trip the other night and the many laughs we had over it as we paid our final respects to Walter. He was a fine fellow and a good friend.

Looking Back

10 Years Ago

An average of $49.32 was reported yesterday for the sale of dark fired tobacco on the Murray Market, according to Ollie Barnett, tobacco market reporter.

Deaths reported include the Rev. John L. Parker, 80, John H. Arnold, 57, Lawton Wheatley, 68, Murray K. Rogers, and Robert Holloway, 49.

Dr. Ralph Tesseneer, dean of the graduate school at Murray State University, spoke on his European tour at the meeting of the Rho Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa.

Miss Lagenia Bazzell, daughter of Mrs. Gene Rowland and Wayne Bazzell, was married to Ronnie Bazzell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Bazzell, on Dec. 28.

Births reported include a girl, Anne-Marie, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoke on Jan. 11, and a boy, Roy Allen, to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cothran on Jan. 14.

Showing at the Capri Theatre is "The Boston Strangler" starring Tony Curtis, Henry Fonda, and George Kennedy.

20 Years Ago

The Murray Rotary Club heard a member of Alcoholics Anonymous speak on the twelve steps set up by AA to aid the alcoholic and to make him a useful citizen again. He was introduced by Dr. Harry U. Whayne.

Deaths reported include Walter H. Stuckey, Mrs. Ewell Tinsley, 68, H. B. Chrisman, 78, and Mrs. J. A. Cullom, 83.

30 Years Ago

Slight earth tremors were felt in Murray on Jan. 13 about 9:30 p.m. They were only slight and only a few persons reported they felt the tremor which was more like a steady vibration than a jar. Deaths reported include Adolphus Lassiter, 36.

Births reported include a girl to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Barrow on Jan. 13.

Mrs. Taz Ezell, Mrs. Altie Carson, Mrs. Doris Ezell, and Miss Mary Reid presented the program on "Our Responsibility" at the meeting of the WSCS of the Kirksey Methodist Church.

In high school basketball games Calvert City beat Hazel, Sedalia beat Lynn Grove, New Concord beat Almo, and Murray Training beat Cairo, Ill. High team scores include McLemore with 24 for Calvert City, Taylor with 17 for Hazel, B. Norsworthy with 11 for Sedalia, Dunaway with 14 for Lynn Grove, Finney with 12 for New Concord, Phillips with 8 for Almo, and Houston with 9 for Murray Training.

Showing at the Capitol Theatre is "Eagle Squadron" starring Robert Stack, Diana Barrymore, and Jon Hall.

Thoughts In Season

By Ken Wolf

Since comments on the art of writing and thinking clearly usually come from either teachers or men of letters, it is refreshing to hear the following statement from a great twentieth-century scientist, Albert Einstein (1879-1955), published in Mein Weltbild in 1934:

To see with one's own eyes, to feel and judge without succumbing to the suggestive power of the fashion of the day, to be able to express what one has seen and felt in a trim sentence or even in a cunningly wrought word — is that not glorious?

Tillman, Eastern Nudge Past Murray State 73-69

RICHMOND, Ky. — Coach Ron Greene has said that his Murray State basketball team must build step-by-step, so he had to be pleased with the play of his squad last night.

Coming off an 84-70 drubbing at Morehead on Saturday, the Racers jumped to a 9-0 lead and battled Ohio Valley Conference-leader Eastern Kentucky to the wire before falling 73-69.

The loss was Murray's seventh straight and dropped its season record to 2-13 and 0-2 in the OVC. The seven-game loss streak matched the length of a losing skid last season. Eastern Kentucky improved itself to 9-4 and 3-0.

Freshman Kenney Hammonds scored, Keith Oglesby hit a layup and free throw and John Randall followed with yet another layup and dunk to give the Racers their early advantage.

But the Colonels rallied to outscore Murray 12-2 to take the lead for good with 11:50 left in the first half.

James "Turk" Tillman, a 6-4 junior forward, paced Eastern with a game-high 25 points. Tillman, averaging 25.3 points a game, ranks in the top six nationally in scoring.

Three other Colonels — Vic Merchant with 16, Bruce Jones with 14 and Kenny Elliott with 10 — also scored in double figures before a crowd of 6,200.

The Racers, trailing 32-21 at the half, erupted for 10 straight points to open the final period on three baskets by forward Barry Snow and two by Hammonds.

But Eastern pushed its lead back up to 50-37 with nine minutes left, then watched Murray State make a final surge. Trailing 71-67 with 17 seconds left, Hammonds sank a layup to get the Racers within a basket before Tillman iced the game by dropping two free throws with 10 seconds left.

Hammonds and Snow turned in their most impressive performances of the season. The former finished with 16 points, while the latter tied his season high with 15.

Randall, a 6-8 senior, continued his fine board work with a game-high 12 rebounds and led Racers scorers with 21 points. Oglesby finished with nine points and freshman guard Tom Adams added four.

Eastern hit 51 percent from the field on the strength of 31-of-61 shooting while the Racers shot at a 46 percent (30 of 65) clip. Murray was successful on 9-of-14 free throws. The Colonels hit 11 of 18.

The Racers host Western Kentucky in another OVC battle Saturday in the Sports Arena before facing Middle Tennessee in Murfreesboro on Monday.

A Loser, But Pleased

That's Joe Hall After UK Falls To Miss. State

By the Associated Press
STARKVILLE, Miss. — Once again, Kentucky's youthful basketball team fought the good fight only to lose a last-second decision. But Coach Joe Hall sees brighter days ahead.

"I'm real pleased with my ball club," Hall said after the Wildcats dropped a 63-61 Southeastern Conference basketball game at Mississippi State. The Bulldogs won it on Ray White's 25-foot jumper with three seconds to play.

"We played badly at Alabama (where Kentucky dropped a 55-52 game last Saturday), but tonight we had a lot of plusses," Hall said. "In fact, the only bad statistic for us was the final score."

Hall said that the loss, Kentucky's sixth against a like number of victories and its fourth in five SEC games, "won't stick in our craws. We'll be able to come back from this loss without any trouble."

"If there's any such thing as a good loss, this was a good loss."

Kentucky thus dropped a crucial weekend road series that seriously damages Wildcat chances of defending its league title. Ironically, both losses were engineered by coaches with close personal ties to Hall and Kentucky. Alabama is coached by C.M. Newton, a former Kentucky teammate of Hall in the early 1950s. Mississippi State's Jim Hatfield was an assistant coach for Hall's first two Kentucky teams in 1973 and 1974.

It was a Hatfield coaching ploy that proved the difference. With six minutes left and the score tied 61-61, he ordered his team into a four-corner offense.

"We were running it with the intention of scoring or getting a foul," Hatfield said. "But we didn't score and they didn't foul us so, with about 2:18 to go, we said, 'What the heck, let's take it down and see what happens.'"

What happened was that the Bulldogs, now 12-2 overall and 4-2 in the SEC, held the ball until White began looking for a shot with 15 seconds to go. He worked loose long enough to throw up a shot from behind the circle.

Kentucky's Dwight Anderson fired a shot at the buzzer that hit the rim and bounced off.

White, the Bulldogs' leading scorer, was limited to just four points. Wiley Peck paced Mississippi State with 24 points and Rlickey Brown added 20. Kyle Macy led Kentucky with 16 points.

Eastern Maintains OVC Edge; Tenn. Tech, Eagles 2nd

Eastern Kentucky, 3-0 in the Ohio Valley Conference and 9-4 overall, maintained a one-game lead over Morehead and Tennessee Tech, both 2-1 after wins on Monday, with its 73-69 victory over Murray.

Morehead got 26 points from Herbie Stamper in a 94-78 win over Austin Peay, while Brian Troupe scored 23 points and Pete Abuls added 15 as Tennessee Tech slipped by defending champion Western Kentucky 75-68. It was Western's first OVC start.

Middle Tennessee, 1-2 in the OVC and 9-6 overall, was idle. Morehead jumped to an 11-4 lead less than five minutes into its game and built the margin to 40-21 six minutes before halftime.

Austin Peay, led by Curtis Webster's 15 points, narrowed the gap to 47-35 by intermission, but two technical fouls to open the second half proved to be the Governors' undoing. Stamper hit three of four technical free throws and Morehead added another basket on the ensuing inbounds play to put the Eagles ahead 52-35.

Austin Peay, 1-2 and 6-9, got no closer than 12 points down the stretch.

Norris Beckley had 22 and Charlie Clay added 15 for Morehead, which improved its overall record to 7-6.

Pat Kannapel came off the bench to pour in 12 points and grab a game-high 11 rebounds for Tennessee Tech, which improved its record to 6-8 overall. Kannapel helped the Golden Eagles to a decisive 43-28 rebounding edge over Western, which slipped to 7-5 overall.

Terence Roberts' 15-footer with nine minutes remaining in the first half put Tech ahead for good at 12-11.

Western was paced by Ricky Wray's 16 points.

The Girls: Washer One Short Of Record Mark As Murray High Rolls

By TONY WILSON
Sports Editor

Stacey Mobley hefted the free throw, then watched it totter around before falling off the rim. A moment later, her field goal attempt was a bit too strong and bounded away.

So with 14 seconds left, she again stood at the free-throw line with a look of concern on her face. But this time her shot fell through, much to the delight of the small crowd at the Murray High Gymnasium.

A game-winning free throw? Hardly. But it did provide the only dramatics of a 100-20 Murray High victory over an outmanned Farmington team last night.

That three-digit figure was a milestone for a Tiger girls team — its first 100-point game ever. The win pushed Murray High's record even at 3-3, while the Wildcats fell to 0-10.

"I knew Farmington was weak, but we can't just sit back and not play," said Murray High coach Rick Fisher. "We didn't play that well anyway. We are still a long way from being a good team."

It was difficult to determine how good — or bad, in Farmington's case — either team was last night. Amid a rash of turnovers by both teams, the Tigers vaulted to a 22-3 first-quarter lead and never allowed Farmington more than 10 points in any quarter.

Senior guard Jaina Washer led the way with 26 points, just one shy of the single-game record of 27 held by sophomore center Tonya Alexander. Alexander scored 23 points herself.

Washer had a chance to break the mark late in the game when she swiped another Farmington pass and drove the length of the court for an apparent layup.

The ball flew from her grasp, however — that can happen when one shoots as many layups as she did last night — and she fouled out moments later.

The two teams combined for 71 turnovers, with Farmington owning 44 of them. And the Wildcats wouldn't even have scored in double figures as a team had it not been for free throws.

The visitors had only four field goals for the game but sank 12-of-32 charity tosses. Murray High had a whopping 47 field goals on 70 attempts (67 percent) and hit 6-of-18 tries from the line.

"This game gave us a good chance to try to do some things that we wanted to do," said Fisher. "But we need more game experience."

From a scoring standpoint, it would have been hard for any fan there not to be pleased. The Tigers jumped to an 8-0 lead and owned their biggest advantage of the first half at 56-11 on Candy Jackson's layup with 52 seconds left.

All 17 Tiger girls that dressed played, and 12 of them scored. Jackson (11) and Jann Washer (10) were the only other Murray High players in double figures, but Rhysa Griffith pumped in six and four others added four each.

The Tigers travel to Hickman County Thursday before facing still-unbeaten Calloway County in the first half of a doubleheader at the MSU Sports Arena Friday. The Murray High-Calloway County boys game will follow.

Cold Calloway Warms, Tops St. Mary For 11th Triumph

PADUCAH — Marianne Davis had probably heard of teams getting off to a cold start, but not in THIS way. "It took us a while to thaw out," the Calloway County girls basketball coach said.

Thaw they did, as the Lakers rebounded from a first-quarter deficit for a 62-50 victory over St. Mary last night that gave Calloway its 11th straight triumph without a loss.

The St. Mary gymnasium was without heat, and Davis was sure it was a big factor in the Lakers slow start. "We couldn't shoot free throws, and I think the cold had a lot to do with it."

Neither team was exactly adept at the free-throw line. Calloway hit only 10-of-29 charity tosses, while St. Mary was little better with a 12-of-28 performance.

Trailing 19-13 after a quarter, the Lakers outscored the Vikings in every quarter thereafter. Mina Todd led the winners with 27 points on 13-of-21 shooting — field-goal shooting.

Guard Rose Ross, the Lakers' leading scorer, missed the game with a sprained ankle that she sustained in practice, and her status for Friday's game against Murray High is doubtful.

Pam Troglo, a quick 5-5 guard, accounted for 60 percent of the Vikings points as she tossed in 30, including 12 in the first quarter to give St. Mary its early advantage.

"She couldn't miss," said Davis. "But she is awfully quick — a really good player."

Melissa Miller and Dawn Redden added 10 points each for Calloway for the only other double-figure scoring for the winners.

Calloway hit 26-of-56 shots from the field for 46 percent, much better than its 34 percent accuracy from the free-throw line.

Miller, who hit five of her seven field-goal tries, also led the team in assists with five and received credit from Davis for her fine defensive play. "I put her on Troglo in the second half, and she held her down really well."

Aside from Troglo, only three other Vikings scored. Mary Taylor had nine points, Coleen Tackett added eight and Cathy Willett chipped in three.

The Lakers' contest against Murray High will begin at 6:30 in the Murray State Sports Arena and will be the first half of a doubleheader. The Calloway-Murray High boys game will follow.

Tiger, Laker Frosh Each Earn Victories

Murray High gained its victory a bit easier, but both area freshman boys basketball teams earned wins last night. In Paducah:

The Lakers battled St. Mary to a 51-all tie at the end of regulation play, then outscored the hosts 14-7 in overtime for their eighth victory in 10 games.

Dan Key erupted for 30 points and 10 rebounds, while Ricky Houston added 12 and Tommy Workman chipped in 10.

Calloway trailed 26-25 at the half and 41-32 after three quarters but rallied for the tie and subsequent victory.

At the Murray High gym: David McMillen pumped in 16 points to pace the Murray High frosh to a 47-28 victory over Farmington and their first triumph of the season last night.

David Schmaltz and Walter Payne added eight points each for the winners, who are now 1-6.

The Tigers led just 12-6 after one quarter but pushed it to 18 after a 20-point second quarter and were never headed.

Calloway — Dan Key, 30; Brad Miller, 7; Ricky Houston, 12; Don Hargrove, 6; Tommy Workman, 10; Kyle Cardinal, 0.

St. Mary — Matchem, 16; Smith, 9; Woeltz, 6; Averill, 2; Harper, 7.

Farmington — Coleman, 14; Adams, 6; Smith, 4; Waggoner, 2; Pigg, 2.

Murray High — David McMillen, 16; David Schmaltz, 8; Walter Payne, 8; Ronnie Pace, 6; Ken Murphy, 2; Darren Hooper, 4; Todd Swain, 2; Mike Boggess, 1.

Starr Jones (33) follows through on a shot attempt as a host of teammates and Farmington players watch. The Murray High girls bombed the Wildcats 100-20 last night to even their record at 3-3.

Green, Scales Shine; Tigers Polish Off Auburn

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

It sure helps to have the hometown fans applauding you, and the Louisiana State basketball team had plenty of support for their big Southeastern Conference game with Auburn.

But the biggest hand they got Monday night was from Al Green and DeWayne Scales.

The Tigers' formidable inside-outside combination teamed for 52 points to lead the nation's ninth-ranked team to a 94-82 victory amid the clamor of jam-packed Assembly Center at Baton Rouge, La.

"That was like a sixth man to them," said Auburn Coach Sonny Smith, referring to an LSU home-record crowd of 14,560.

The attendance broke the long-standing mark of 14,551 set on Feb. 11, 1970, when LSU entertained Kentucky. While the fans were making noise, LSU's two big guns were firing away — the 6-foot-2 Green scoring 27 points and the 6-9 Scales putting in 25.

"We just gave him more room to work around inside their zone," said LSU Coach Dale Brown of Green. "Scales was just his usual phenomenal self. Our inside game was what won it for us, and our tough defense in the second half."

In another key SEC game, Vanderbilt upset No. 18 Alabama 75-73 in overtime, marking the second victory in a week over a Top Twenty team for the Commodores. They defeated LSU last week. Fifth-ranked Indiana State was the only other Top Twenty club in action Monday night, beating New Mexico State 73-69.

Green scored many of his

points from close range, prompting Brown's remark that "he's the best 6-2 center in the country." Many of Scales' shots were from long range, as far away as 25 feet.

Charlie Davis tipped in a missed shot by Tommy Springer with one second left in overtime to provide Vanderbilt's tinging victory. Alabama's Reggie King put the game into overtime with a similar shot when he tipped in a missed shot by teammate Eddie Adams with four seconds to play in regulation.

Two free throws by Bob Heaton-snapped a tie with 19 seconds left, then Larry Bird stole the ball and fed Carl Nicks for a layup to seal Indiana State's Missouri Valley Conference victory over New Mexico State.

Barrix, Mounts Spark Racers

RICHMOND, Ky. — Jackie Mounts and Cindy Barrix scored 20 points each and Laura Lynn added 18 as the Murray State women rolled past Eastern Kentucky 80-70 last night to break a two-game losing streak.

Barrix' total included an eight-for-eight performance from the free-throw line, while Mounts also grabbed a game-high 16 rebounds.

With the victory, the Racers evened their season record at 7-7 and gained their first Ohio Valley Conference win against two losses. Eastern fell to 3-8 and 1-3.

As a team, Murray shot a blistering 86 percent (18 of 21) from the free throw line and 42 percent (31 of 73) from the field. The Colonels sank 37 percent of their tries from the field and 6-of-10 charity tosses.

Peggy Gay and Loretta Coughlin led Eastern with 20 points each, and Sandra Mukes pumped in 19 for the hosts.

The Racers host Western Kentucky in a 5:15 p.m. game Saturday in the Sports Arena.

4. A person who picks a warm yellow or orange for kitchen decor: (a) has little knowledge of contemporary trends in decorating; (b) gives little thought to the problems of cleaning and maintenance; (c) has some insight into the influence of color on human moods.
5. Anyone who would put a Victorian table next to a contemporary chair is (A) probably ignorant of the significance of furniture styles; (B) possibly following one of the latest trends in decorating; (C) probably trying to achieve continuity in his life by preserving a reminder of an earlier age.

6. A brightly lighted living room may indicate that: (a) the family is expecting company; (b) the members of the family are energetic and hard-working; (c) the family members are unusually formal with each other and outsiders.

7. A person who displays kitchen utensils, a stamp collection, woodworking tools, or family snapshots on open shelves may be: (a) a sloppy housekeeper; (b) following a current decorating trend; (c) a warm person who is easy to get to know; (d) two of the above.

ANSWERS: 1. (d) A cluttered house may be a sign that the person who lives there is preoccupied with matters considered more important than housekeeping. But it might also mean that the person is depressed — especially if the house is excessively dark as well as messy. Clutter and creativity may also go together. A neat house may indicate an orderly, organized person who is not outstandingly creative.

2. (c) A study at Purdue contrasted environmental activists with other people who care little about environmental issues. Among the characteristics that set environmentalists apart are their fondness for antiques and houseplants.

3. (c) Persons who favor bright colors often rate lower in achievement motivation than do others. Persons who get high scores on measures of achievement motivation generally prefer subdued colors such as blue.

4. (c) A warm yellow or orange decor may be an excellent choice for a kitchen. Bright, cheerful colors may be just the right setting for an upbeat start to the day.

5. (b) Scrambling furniture of various periods and styles is a characteristic of the very "in" style of decorating known as eclectic.

6. (b) Light levels are believed to be associated with work levels. A kitchen is a brightly lighted room and lots of work gets done there. Subdued lighting suggests greater formality.

7. (d) A new trend in decorating is open storage that lets the homeowner show off utensils by hanging them on hooks, and display herbs and other ingredients in glass jars. Hobbyists show their crafts and collections on open shelves. This trend is displacing the behind-closed-doors storage of the past. Some authorities believe that the person who prefers out-in-the-open storage is an out-in-the-open individual who makes friends easily.

SCORING: 5-7 right: you should be asking the questions. 3-4 right: you're just an average house-talker. 0-2 correct: listen carefully, your house may be trying to tell you something.

(The house-talk quiz was prepared by Andy Lang in cooperation with Purdue University Professor D. Perry Anchor, building construction; Professor Richard Borden, psychology; Professor Frederick B. Morse, mechanical engineering; and Professor Victoria Willis, art and design.)

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

DESCRIBED AS A "deluxe minihouse" by architect Jan Reiner, this Florida waterfront retirement home consists of one bedroom and one bath. A concrete block house built on a 4-inch-thick slab, the structure has stucco exterior walls and plaster interiors. Heating-cooling could be by a heat-pump or a solar unit on the roof. For more information on Plan HA1081R, write—enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope—to Jan Reiner, 1000 52nd St. North, St. Petersburg, Fla., 33710.

Home Hints Parties Follow Pharaoh's Course

By ELAINE Q. BARROW
AP Newsfeatures

Young King Tutankhamun, if he hadn't been mummified for 3,000 years, might be mesmerized by the merchandising of his name.

King Tut has become a prestige label for jewelry, T-shirts, tote bags, stationery, jigsaw puzzles, bikinis, books, sculpture, needlepoint sets, linens and lingerie.

There are posters, porcelain, calendars, collectors' plates, scarves and even a whiskey decanter shaped like the Egyptian monarch's golden death mask. Parties with a King Tut theme are among the latest fads.

Tutmania is peaking in New York City, the sixth United States stop for a traveling exhibition of 55 priceless articles from the boy king's tomb.

The show recently began a four-month stay at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Previously it had been seen in Washington, D. C., Los Angeles, Seattle, Chicago and New Orleans. San Francisco and Toronto are the next stops scheduled.

In New York, an innovation — typically New York — was injected: jewelry and fashion items with hieroglyphs translating into, "I Love New York."

These come in a cartouche collection developed by six major fashion and jewelry design houses. Part of the proceeds will go to the nonprofit Citizens for New York City, Inc., for citywide improvement programs.

For a different set, hairdresser Roger Resca has created a "King Tut Cut," featuring long hair and bangs which resemble those identified with a different Egyptian — Cleopatra. However, unisex hair styles may have been "in" even back in 1358 B.C. As a gesture of regal extravagance, Mrs. Resca recommends flicking a bit of gold dust into your hair.

A King Tut napkin, created by print designer Vera for a diplomatic dinner given by the Egyptian government before the New York exhibition opened, is another spinoff. The design embodies a traditional Egyptian symbol, the crook and flail, executed in black and gold on a natural fabric. The napkins are made of ramie, an ancient textile, presumably the kind used to wrap mummies.

Among apparel items are turn-of-century sweaters with the falcon symbol, sleepwear with Egyptian brick and gold motif, and necklaces and earrings with similar reproductions.

Women's gowns have the look, column-shaped and sheer, in fluid fabrics that emphasize the body in the way associated with Cleopatra. The Tut exhibit has created a resurgence of interest in anything Egyptian-related.

There are also the inevitable T-shirts printed with "Love My Mummy" and "Struttin' With Tut" and other slogans (after all, the king himself was a teenager when he died).

And, of course, collectibles abound. Two highlights are a 24-karat gold sculptured bust of the young pharaoh, being promoted by a credit card firm, and a zodiac plate by Wedgwood for $1,000.

However, without spending a lot of money — even for scalpers' tickets to the sold-out exhibit — a person can join the fun by simply giving a King Tut party.

Louise Stacey of Great Neck, N.Y., a professional party planner, offers these tips: Make it an Egyptian costume

Better Water Management Can Save Money At Home

When you think of conserving water, chances are you expect to deny your family some of the conveniences to which they are accustomed.

Not so, says the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau. There are many ways that you can save water that won't hurt their standard of living. Some water-saving techniques actually enhance the comfort and convenience of your family and save money too.

These water-saving tips come from the Bureau:

1. Have leaky faucets fixed or replaced. An "average" leak wastes up to 5,000 gallons a month, at an estimated cost of about $40 a year. If the leak is from a hot water faucet, add from $30 to $40 for heating the water.

2. If you're about to remodel or add a bathroom ask your plumbing contractor if you should include one of the new water-saving water closets.

They use only half as much water with no loss of efficiency.

3. If you have an old-fashioned showerhead, replace it. New ones on the market use less water and increase enjoyment of the shower since they permit you to regulate the spray.

4. Add an automatic temperature control to your shower. It will enable you to preset the temperature before turning on the water. A family of four averages about 1400 shower baths a year. Hand-valve showers waste about 2.5 gallons of hot water while the bather adjusts the water temperature. An automatic control will save you up to an estimated $40 a year in water and fuel. It also will prevent sudden surges of scalding or icy water.

5. Equip your faucets with aerators. They introduce millions of air bubbles into the water. You use less water because it suds up faster.

6. Leaky toilet tanks waste from 3,000 to 5,000 gallons of water a month, costing you from $30 to $40 a year. They are simple to repair.

7. Use full loads when using your dishwasher or washing clothes. You'll save not only water but fuel too.

8. If your water is hard, consider having a water softener installed. Untold amounts of water, not to mention soap and detergent, are wasted when doing household tasks with hard water because you need more to get the job done.

9. Some authorities claim close to 50 percent of the water from a municipal system is wasted. Consciously work at saving water until it becomes a habit. For example, stopper your sink whenever you wash dishes by hand. Stack them and rinse them with a hose spray. Don't leave the water running while shaving. Keep drinking water in the refrigerator instead of letting it run to cool it.

"Better Water Management" is a term you'll be hearing a lot in the months to come. It refers not only to water conservation but also to pollution control. This calls for the cooperation of government, business and industry with strong support from the public.

Heating System Quality Is Comfort, Saves Fuel

Your family's comfort, health, energy and sense of well-being all are affected by the evenness and quality of your home's heating. With the current emphasis upon fuel savings, the efficiency of your system takes on another important dimension.

You can't have your heating system shut down for inspection during the height of winter, but this is a good time to evaluate its performance and, if improvements in efficiency are needed to have them made before the next heating season, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau points out. Perhaps all it needs is cleaning and the replacement of parts. If it seems to gobble up fuel and still leave cold spots in the house, it will pay you to have it completely overhauled or replaced.

Hydronic heat is a quality type. It uses water as the heating medium and is efficient, clean, quiet and draft-free. Baseboard radiation makes placement of furniture and the hanging of drapes easy.

Another desirable feature of hydronic heat is the ease with which it can be "zoned" to vary the temperature in different areas of the home according to the activity there. Thus bathrooms can be kept warm and bedrooms cooler for sleeping. Rooms occupied by babies or older folks can be kept warmer, while rooms used by active teenagers such as recreation rooms can be kept cooler. Temperatures in seldom-used rooms such as guest rooms can be kept low. All this means not only maximum comfort but fuel savings as well.

The WEEDERS GUIDE

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Many common fruits and vegetables will make interesting house plants at little cost.

Avocado pits provide one of the more popular and long-lasting plants, but it takes a little longer than others to sprout.

Other items to experiment with are sweet potatoes, carrot and pineapple tops, white potatoes and citrus seeds. These are parts of fruits and vegetables that you generally toss into the garbage pail.

Planting them is quite easy. Remove seeds from the fruit but do not let them dry out. Plant them promptly in moist soil, about a quarter inch deep. Water whenever the soil begins to dry out.

Seeds from lemons, oranges, tangerines and grapefruit will grow into beautiful, glossy-leaved plants. But, advises Professor Lee Taylor of Michigan State University, "don't count on your orange plants to flower and produce fruit for you. Citrus plants grown indoors usually don't blossom. But they are nice looking."

Here's how to start an avocado plant: Remove the pit from the fruit, wash it, let it dry for several days, then remove the papery brown coating. Bury the broad, rounded end of the pit in moist potting soil, which should be moistened again when it begins to dry. Place the pot in a sunny window when the pit cracks and a shoot and leaves appear.

How about an avocado experiment? Plant a pit upside down — with the pointed end down in the soil. You may get a plant with several stems, not just one.

To plant a carrot, cut an inch off the big, rounded end. Place the piece in a dish of wet sand and roots will grow out of the cut portion. Dark green, lacy leaves will emerge from the top.

Here are others:

Pineapple — Twist the top off the fruit, remove several leaves to expose at least half an inch of stem. Sometimes small roots will be exposed. Insert the top in moist sand or vermiculite. Don't keep it so wet that the pineapple will rot. In one to two months, roots will grow. Then transplant into potting soil and place it in a sunny window. This one may bear fruit.

Sweet potato — Place a whole sweet potato in a jar with a third of the large end sticking out. You can brace it there with toothpicks. Set jar filled with water in a warm, sunny place, and roots and leafy vines will get started in a few days. Change the water weekly to avoid odor.

"Seeds of green peppers and winter squash will sprout quickly and grow into long, green vines," Michigan State's Taylor notes. "They usually can't get enough light in the house to grow very large, but they are fun to watch for a while."

Taylor points out that the pom-pom plant is loaded with seeds. "You could plant some deep and some shallow and vary the amount of light, water and warmth you give them to see what combination seems to work best."

Other possibilities include asparagus seeds, herbs and rhubarb. Most of these plants don't stay pretty for long. When they start to look sickly, or if they develop insect or disease problems, throw them out and start new ones.

"After all," says Taylor, "seeing what comes up is half the fun."

Wood Ashes — Ashes from your wood stove or fireplace make good fertilizer, since they have lots of potash, an important plant nutrient. So sprinkle the ashes on the compost pile or plow them into the garden soil in early spring or late fall.

Humidifier Saves Fuel, Offers Moist Comfort

Everyone knows by now that you can save fuel by turning down your thermostat to 68 degrees or less. The problem is — how do you stay comfortable at the lower temperature, especially if you're one of the majority of people who like it 75 to 82 degrees?

You can do it by introducing moisture into the air, says the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau. Grandma used to do it by putting pans of water on radiators or in heating ducts. The modern way is with a humidifier. You can actually increase comfort at lower temperatures with a humidifier, the Bureau notes.

Here's why, according to Ken Fournier of Skuttle Manufacturing Company, a pioneer in the humidification field: Excessively dry air evaporates moisture from your skin, automatically lowering the temperature on its surface and making you feel cooler. Putting moisture into the air slows the evaporating process, so you feel comfortable at a lower temperature.

If your home is like the average, it's probably too dry. In fact, in most homes the relative humidity drops to around 15 percent during the heating season — and that's drier than Death Valley! A home heated to 68 degrees should have a relative humidity between 30 and 35 percent.

Static electricity is probably the most obvious sign that your home is too dry. However, dryness is also responsible for itchy skin, irritated nasal passages, shrinking woodwork and drawers that stick.

There are humidifiers available for every type of heating. For more information, write to the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau, 35 E. Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill. 60601.

Kitchen Is A Favorite Room For Remodeling

Because of financial and other problems involved in buying a new home today, many families are remodeling their existing homes instead of trying to relocate. A favorite place to remodel is the kitchen, since it is once more coming into its own as the social center of the home despite the popularity of the family room.

According to the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau, the kitchen is becoming the place for most family meals and the neighborhood coffee — break for stay-at-home housewives, while the family room is the favorite for evening gatherings.

These are among the things women want most in their new kitchens:

1. Two or three-bowl sink. The "heart of the kitchen" is the sink. The homemaker's choice can be of stainless steel or enamel that comes in a variety of colors and sets the tone for the entire room.

2. More counter and cabinet space. Cabinets above the counter should reach to the ceiling. Seldom used items can be stored in hard-to-reach places. Space beneath counters should be utilized to the fullest too.

3. Automatic dishwasher. It eliminates a job that most homemakers dislike; it also gets the dishes cleaner because hotter water is used than hands can stand.

4. Food waste disposer. This handy appliance is installed below the sink, connected to the waste line. Food waste is put down the drain and the cold water is turned on. A flick of a wall switch sets the appliance going.

5. Trash compactor. It compresses the equivalent of a week's worth of trash for a family of four into a 1½ foot cube weighing around 25 pounds. It can handle anything that normally goes into the trash can.

6. Instant-hot water device. It dispenses tea-kettle hot water for instant soups and drinks.

7. Cheerful colors and plenty of sunlight.

Hopkinsville Hospital Chute Yields 17½-Year-Old Letter

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A mail chute at Western State Hospital near Hopkinsville was the apparent resting place of a letter which took 17½ years to reach its destination.

The letter arrived Friday at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary here, addressed to a dean who retired 10 years ago, said Wesley M. Pattillo, a seminary vice president.

A check with postal and hospital officials indicated that the letter apparently lodged in the hospital mail chute and was found during recent construction work, Pattillo said. A worker apparently dropped it back in the mail without noticing how old it was.

The letter and accompanying $15 check, both dated June 16, 1961, were mailed by Hermann Weinlick, a summer student in a seminary program at the hospital. The check was written on an account at Weinlick's hometown bank in Bethlehem, Pa., Pattillo said.

The letter bore a 4-cent stamp, said the check was for payment of course fees and asked that Weinlick's credit be transferred to the Princeton Theological Seminary at the end of the summer.

Weinlick said his parents also received a 17½-year-old letter last week, which apparently went the same route of the letter to the seminary.

"I just got out my checkbook — I happen to have my 1961 checkbook here — and noticed that the check was never canceled," he said in a telephone interview from his home Saturday night. "I don't know why I didn't pick that up then."

"What's curious to me is that the seminary never came and asked me for the $15, and I'm used to paying my debts," Weinlick, a production coordinator for a Christian materials publishing firm, said his course credit was transferred to Princeton despite the lack of payment, adding, "It occurs to me now that the First National Bank of Bethlehem owes me $15."

Two Weeks Remain For Teacher Exam Registration

Prospective teachers who plan to take the National Teacher Examinations at Murray State University on Feb. 17 have less than two weeks to register with Educational Testing Service (ETS) of Princeton, N. J.

Dr. Bill Allbritten, director of the Counseling and Testing Center at Murray State, said registrations should be mailed in time to reach ETS no later than Jan. 25 when the regular registration closes. A penalty fee of $5 will be charged for registrations received at ETS after Jan. 25 but prior to Jan. 31. Registrations will not be accepted after Jan. 31 for the February test date.

Registration forms and instruction may be obtained from Dr. Allbritten in the Counseling and Testing Center at Ordway Hall on the campus or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, ETS, Box 911, Princeton, N. J. 08541. On-the-spot registration is not permitted.

During the one-day testing session, a registrant may take the Common Examinations, which include tests in professional and general education, plus one of the 26

Area Examinations designed to probe knowledge of particular subject matter and teaching methods.

Once registered, each candidate will receive an admission ticket and notification of the exact location of the center at which to report. Those taking Common Examinations will report at 8:30 a.m. and finish about 12:30 p.m., while Area Examinations are scheduled from 1:30 to about 4:15 p.m.

Negative Smoking Effect Remains If Women Quit Before Pregnancy Onset

By WARREN E. LEARY
AP Science Writer
HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — New evidence indicates the negative effects of smoking continue even if women quit before pregnancy, says a major new study.

Data released Monday for the U.S. Collaborative Perinatal Project, which examined more than 50,000 pregnancies at 12 hospital centers, confirmed previous studies showing smoking during pregnancy increases disorders that kill the unborn and the newborn.

But Dr. Richard L. Naeye of Pennsylvania State University told the American Heart Association's annual science writers' forum he was particularly disturbed by the first data to indicate past smoking had an effect on later pregnancy.

He said placenta praevia and the presence of abnormally large areas of dead tissue on the placenta were more common for smoking mothers and were related to past smoking, measured as cigarettes per year over a period of time.

Placenta praevia is a condition in which the placenta is attached abnormally low in the womb, leading to dangerous complications during labor and birth.

Naeye said no one knows how long the effects of smoking continue after a woman quits, but he advised women contemplating pregnancy to give up smoking as early as possible before conception.

Previous studies linked sudden infant death syndrome

— also called crib death — to smoking during pregnancy. But Naeye said this study is the first to show smoking as an independent risk factor of the condition, a problem of unknown origin which kills one of every 400 children born in the United States.

While smoking is not the greatest risk factor in crib death — premature birth and respiratory and prenatal infection are others — it alone increases the risk of crib death by 52 percent, Naeye said.

Among the adverse effects that the study confirmed increase because of smoking during pregnancy are spontaneous abortions, stillbirths, and premature births.

Charles Duke Is Appointed To Committee With NCTE

Charles R. Duke, associate professor of English at Murray State University, has been appointed to a committee with the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE), a professional organization of approximately 100,000 members and subscribers from elementary school through graduate school.

This committee, the NCTE Committee to Evaluate Curriculum Guidelines and Competency Requirements, will (1) evaluate curriculum guides, kindergarten through grade 12, including curriculum documents that do not fit into usual categories, such as a middle-school vocabulary program, a course catalogue for an elective program; (2) produce a document on how to develop good English programs in response to inadequately conceived and narrowly stated objectives, using existing state and local competency-based objectives to show how to create humanized curricula from dehumanizing objectives; (3) to critique guidelines, lists of objectives, and other statements related to competency testing produced by state departments of education and local districts.

The aim of NCTE is to increase the effectiveness of teaching the English language and its literature in the nation's schools and colleges. The organization conducts national conventions, regional meetings and institutes on current issues in the teaching of English and publishes books, professional journals, recordings and other teaching aids.

One-Fourth Of State's Counties Succeed In Immunizing Students

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A fourth of Kentucky's 120 counties have succeeded in immunizing at least 90 percent of their school pupils against common childhood diseases, according to a state health official.

A state Department of Human Resources survey indicates that every child from kindergarten through high school has been vaccinated in four of those counties: Anderson, Boone, Powell and Scott.

State law requires children to show proof of immunization against several childhood diseases, including measles, chicken pox and whooping cough, before they are admitted to school. The department began a massive public relations campaign last year to encourage local schools to enforce the law, setting a goal of 90 percent immunization.

The department's survey, completed last week, shows 74.9 percent of all Kentucky students have been immunized, according to Carlos Hernandez, director of preventive services. That breaks down to a rate of 81.5 percent for elementary school students, but only 67 percent for high school students.

Hernandez credited joint efforts by local health boards and school officials for immunization rates of 90 percent and above in a quarter of the counties.

But he said Monday that those successes are offset by what has happened in counties like Pike, where the survey shows only 18 percent of school children have immunization certificates.

Other counties with low immunization rates are Knott, with 9 percent; Letcher with 11; Henry with 23; Shelby with 30; Grant and Clay with 31 and Adair with 37 percent.

"The only explanation I can offer to justify (the low rates) is that for whatever reason the officials in these counties have not enforced the immunization law," Hernandez said. "School officials have been contacted by local health departments — you've got to have the cooperation of school officials — and it's obvious that there is not this kind of commitment to help."

Hernandez said it is strange that officials in Jefferson and Fayette counties — with the largest enrollments in the state — can do such a superb job, while some smaller counties apparently haven't made the effort.

Fayette's immunization rate is 80 percent overall, with 99 percent of elementary students vaccinated. Eighty-seven percent of Jefferson County students have been immunized, and 98 percent of elementary students, he said.

Hernandez said the department will continue its effort to immunize at least 90 percent of all students. He said the department has written to local boards of health and to the state Education Department to notify them of counties with low immunization rates.

"There is no cost involved to any family who wants to vaccinate a child, no cost to a school system," Hernandez said. "The only cost is that the kids are unprotected."

He explained that absenteeism caused by an outbreak of disease would cost a school money, since state funds are allocated on the basis of daily attendance figures.

Medicare Claim Filing Can Be Simple Procedure

Filling out your Medicare claim can be a simple procedure when remembering some basic instructions.

Missing information always causes a delay in the processing of claims. It is vitally important that your correct name and health insurance claim number, as they appear on your Medicare card, be given on the Request for Payment form. The diagnosis, complete mailing address (including zip code) and your signature should also be written on the top portion of the Medicare claim.

If the doctor's office files the Medicare claim for you, the office staff will complete the necessary information. Never assume, however, that the doctor will automatically file the claim for you. Be sure to ask the office assistant if she will complete the Request for Payment form.

If the doctor's office cannot file for you, get an itemized bill from your doctor and complete the top half of the claim form yourself. Include the itemized statement with the claim form and mail it to the Lexington Medicare office. Remember to file often for faster payment on your claim.

If you have Medicare questions write to the Metropolitan Medicare Office (1218 Harrodsburg Road, Lexington, KY 40504) or call toll free at 800-432-9255.

LITTLE WANT ADS! BIG PLUSES FOR BIG RESULTS!

This Newspaper

produced by today's latest space age technology, yet still bargain priced!

Like most of our other readers and advertisers, you probably aren't fully aware of the fact that just about everything on our pages has been produced via the very latest electronic, computerized word-processing equipment. We've invested millions to bring you a better, more modern product.

In our offices, we talk about "on-line typewriters" and "keyboards, optical-scanners, editing terminals" and even "laser composers". These are all part of today's technology, and all add up to producing an easier-to-read newspaper as well as one that provides a better vehicle for our advertisers' messages.

This newspaper is a product of millions of dollars in research and technology, yet it remains one of today's best bargains.

Deaths and Funerals

Lynn Rogers Dies

Monday; Funeral To Be Wednesday

Lynn Rogers, son of Dr. and Mrs. Carl Rogers, died Monday at his home at 1619 Kirkwood.

Calloway County Coroner Tommy Walker said the death was due to a self-inflicted gunshot wound in the head. The coroner said he arrived at the home at 10:35 p.m. Monday and ruled that death probably occurred about 8 or 8:30 p.m.

The young man was 16 years of age and was a sophomore at Murray High School. Lynn, a member of Boy Scout Troop 13 at St. Leo's Catholic Church, was a candidate for the Eagle award in Scouting. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, Mayfield, where his father was director of music.

He was born June 26, 1962, in McCracken County to Dr. Carl Rogers and Dorothy Louise Jones Rogers.

Survivors include his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Rogers; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Jones, LaCenter, and Mrs. William C. Rogers, Jr., Fort Worth, Texas; great grandmother, Mrs. Dorothy Lovelace, LaCenter.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, Murray, with the Rev. William M. Porter of Murray, the Rev. James Nash of Mayfield, and the Rev. R. E. Rabatin of Murray officiating. Burial will follow in the Murray City Cemetery.

Visitation will be from 7 to 9 p.m. tonight (Tuesday) at the Max Churchill Funeral Home. The family requests that expressions of sympathy take the form of contributions to one's favorite charity.

Mr. Cunningham's

Rites Held Today

Funeral services for Edwin A. (Pod) Cunningham of Murray Route 5 are being held today at 1 p.m. at the chapel of the Blalock-Coleman Funeral Home with the Rev. William B. Taylor officiating and Gus Robertson, Jr., as soloist.

Serving as pallbearers are Mike, David, and Hal Cunningham, Ricky Todd, Paul Batey, and Butch Hutson. Burial will follow in the Hicks Cemetery.

Mr. Cunningham, 55, was pronounced dead on arrival at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital on Sunday at 7:10 a.m. after having been stricken ill at his home.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ruth Rust Cunningham, Murray Route 5; son, Jack Cunningham, and three grandchildren, Wanda, Keith, and Laurie Cunningham, Orlando, Fla.; sister, Mrs. Russell Parker, and brother, Odell Cunningham, Murray Route 5.

Funeral Wednesday

For Mr. McDougal

The funeral for Telous N. McDougal of Murray Route 6 will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the chapel of the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home with the Rev. Calvin Wilkins and the Rev. Dr. David C. Roos officiating. Burial will follow in the Elm Grove Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

Mr. McDougal, 70, died Monday at 9:10 a.m. after being stricken ill suddenly at the home of his cousin, Mrs. Beaton Lassiter, 1003 Fairlane, Murray.

The Calloway County man retired in 1962 from the Murray Division of the Tappan Company. He was a member of the Elm Grove Baptist Church. Born Oct. 21, 1908, in Calloway County, he was the son of the late Lee McDougal and Lela Houston McDougal.

Mr. McDougal is survived by his wife, Mrs. Estelle Williams McDougal, Murray Route 6, to whom he was married on Jan. 11, 1930; two nieces, Mrs. Alfred (Jean) Lindsey and Mrs. Frances Denham, Murray; one nephew, Max Farris, California; five great nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Annie Foust

Dies On Sunday

...THE NEWS IN BRIEF...

INTERNATIONAL

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi left Iran secretly today for Egypt and the United States after Parliament gave Prime Minister Shapour Bakhtiar and his new government its second vote of confidence, court sources reported.

The palace sources said the 59-year-old ruler and Empress Farah left "according to schedule" at 12:15 p.m. after giving reporters the slip with a false announcement that they were delaying their departure until Wednesday.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Forces loyal to the ousted Cambodian government recaptured Kompong Som, the country's only deepwater port, informed sources reported today. But they said Vietnamese warplanes flew the heaviest strikes of the three-week-old war, and it was not known who held the port now.

Thai intelligence officials and other reliable sources said Kompong Som, 135 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, was retaken Monday after stiff fighting. Then the Vietnamese air force went into action, and the situation today was unclear, the sources said.

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional opponents of President Carter's China policy are opening a "scattershot" attack that threatens to delay the confirmation of Leonard Woodcock as ambassador to Peking and to disrupt the legislative schedule of Senate leaders.

Within a few hours of the 96th Congress' opening Monday, there was a flurry of proposals dealing with relations between the United States and Taiwan.

WASHINGTON (AP)

Richard M. Nixon is going to the White House, for the first time since his resignation in 1974, to have dinner later this month with President Carter and China's Teng Hsiao-ping. Nixon, whose 1972 outreach to China ended 22 years of estrangement between the two nations, was invited by Carter, who built on Nixon's initiative by establishing full diplomatic relations with Peking.

WASHINGTON (AP)

The rift between urban leaders and the White House over budget language persists despite President Carter's personal assurance that his new budget will provide more money for the poor.

"We find this extremely interesting," said John Gunther, director of the U.S. Conference of Mayors, after Carter's promise of more money.

"But we continue to be fearful that the actual number of dollars available for fiscal 1980 will not come up to the current services level," Gunther said.

Hip-Deep Snow Is Problem For Midwest With More Expected

CHICAGO (AP) — With new snowfall predicted for today, the Midwest struggled to cope with hip-deep snow that threatened to disrupt fuel and food supplies.

The storm-related death toll climbed to at least 36.

A 44-year-old Columbus, Ohio, man was found 12 feet from the front door of his home on Monday. Police said he apparently slipped on ice, couldn't get up, and died of exposure.

In the hard-hit Chicago area, where up to four inches of snow fell atop the 20.3 inches that arrived over the weekend, authorities counted 17 deaths linked to the city's worst storm since 1967.

There have been 18 reported deaths in Illinois, five in Kansas, four each in Missouri and Iowa, three in Michigan and one in Ohio and one in Nebraska.

The region remained locked in the storm's icy grip. Northern Illinois recorded one of its coldest days in history — 19 below, a temperature reached only five times since records have been kept. The wind-chill index in South Bend, Ind., reached -52.

Thousands of travelers spent another night in Chicago hotels because O'Hare International Airport — which closed for only the sixth time in its history on Saturday — was limited to one runway. A second runway was expected to reopen today.

Commuters — there are 2.25 million in Chicago — hitchhiked or faced two-hour delays due to icy elevated tracks and stalled buses.

The National Weather Service warned there would be at least 4 more inches of snow to contend with today in a new snowshower expected to hit the nation's second-largest city.

And Fred Ostby, deputy director of the National Weather Service in Kansas City, Kan., said a storm system in the West may hit Missouri and Kansas later in the week.

Ostby said it would be Wednesday or Thursday before he could predict the storm's path and intensity. He said it could pack more wallop than the wintry blast that hit over the weekend.

Illinois Gov. James Thompson declared a state of emergency in 22 counties Monday, and then left for a family vacation in Florida. The governors of Iowa and Kansas also declared emergencies.

The price of snow removal and emergency work in Illinois was set at $3.4 million by Monday, and rising, Thompson said.

Meanwhile, 2 to 3 inches of snow fell in the Sacramento Valley and the San Francisco area of California Monday, and avalanche warnings were issued in the eastern Sierras.

The rain was accompanied by lightning, an unusual occurrence in northern California, and more than 17,000 customers lost power when it struck transformers in Oakland.

National Guard troops using helicopters delivered hay to starving cattle in Iowa and similar rescue attempts were planned today in Missouri, where temperatures remained near -15 degrees.

Kansas farmers worried that some cattle already were dead — frozen under drifts of 10 feet or more. And experts warned that the high price of keeping animals alive would push up costs.

"It takes an awful lot of feed just to keep cattle warm," said Scott County agricultural agent Al Maddux in western Kansas. "It's going to make feed costs go sky high."

In Illinois at least 100 dairy farmers reported thousands of gallons of fresh milk spoiled over the weekend because they were unable to get it to market.

Elsewhere, about 300 tractor-trailer rigs — some loaded with perishables like peaches and pears — were stalled at truck stops along Interstate 80 in Iowa. Fuel supplies were low in some areas.

The diesel engine semis require about two gallons of fuel every hour just to idle, and drivers said they feared they wouldn't be able to restart them if they stalled.

Iowa Gov. Robert Ray issued an emergency proclamation allowing fuel tank carriers to haul an extra 1,000 gallons of fuel oil or propane to overcome delivery delays caused by up to 28 inches of snow cover.

In some areas of the Midwest, delivery trucks did not arrive before home fuel supplies ran out for some rural residents.

In Clay County, Mo., a Civil Defense helicopter rescued a family of three from a home north of Kansas City after its furnace broke down and they were stopped from leaving by clogged roads.

In Davenport, Iowa, people on snowmachines delivered fuel oil to families that had run out.

And in New Liberty, Iowa, troops rescued three members of a family who burned corn cobs over the weekend to heat their home. The temperature in one bedroom dipped to 10 degrees, they said.

Authorities in Missouri said at least five other families asked for aerial rescues because they were out of fuel. Troops helped rural Missouri residents. Troops were also called out in Kansas.

Power remained out in parts of Chicago, and repair crews were flown to downed power lines in Kansas Monday. Utility spokesmen said it was not known when electricity would be restored.

Schools and universities were expected to remain closed in Chicago today due to the storm. They were closed on Monday in observance of the anniversary of the Rev. Martin Luther King's birthday.

Double-Murderer Humphreys, Others Pardoned By Blanton

By BILL RAWLINS

Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Roger Humphreys is out of prison — after five years and eight months of a 20-40 year sentence for second-degree murder in the 1973 deaths of his ex-wife and her lover.

Humphreys, son of a Johnson City political ally and whom Gov. Ray Blanton once promised to pardon, is only one of 25 prisoners Blanton made eligible for immediate release in a two-hour commutation and pardon session at his office late Monday night. Three ex-convicts who had completed their terms were pardoned, clearing their records — and 24 more received reduced sentences, most making the prisoners eligible for immediate parole.

"We have six or seven more to go," Blanton — who leaves office at 11 a.m. Saturday — told reporters who waited in his outer office while he signed the 52 executive clemency papers inside. Some of these may be the 10 prisoners under sentence of death — and Blanton said he would commute the cases only if he is assured the prisoners have exhausted all appeals through the courts.

Other prisoners whose commutations were approved by Blanton include:

— Ronald Smith, a former Nashville television photographer, first sentenced to death in 1971 in the torture slaying in Williamson County of a man he believed killed his brother, a Nashville policeman. That sentence was commuted to 99 years and Blanton reduced it to time served, making him eligible for immediate release.

— William Shutt, a former Nashville policeman, sentenced to 99 years in the same slaying, reduced to time served.

— Katie Browder Stricklin, 40, a former West Tennessee school teacher who was sentenced to life in 1972 for poisoning her mother, Alma Butler Browder, and 20 years and a day for poisoning her father-in-law, William Stricklin of Savannah. The commutation paper, issued in the name of Katie Browder Strickland, reduced her sentence to 10-20 years, making her eligible for parole.

— Herbert Lee Tate, sentenced to death in 1971 for murder in Shelby County. The sentence subsequently was commuted to 99 years and Blanton made Tate, an Executive Residence trustee, eligible for immediate release.

— Carl John Burmeister, serving 99 years on a 1969 Shelby County conviction for first-degree murder. The last three years Burmeister served as Correction Commissioner C. Murray Henderson's driver and Blanton made him eligible for immediate release.

In all, Blanton acted on the cases of 12 prisoners serving long terms for first- or second-degree murder. Eight of these were made eligible for immediate release.

The governor blamed the late night session on the FBI seizure of parole board files Dec. 15, when agents arrested Blanton's former legal counsel, Eddie Sisk; Sisk's extradition assistant, Charles Benson, and a suspended highway patrol lieutenant, Charles Frederick Taylor. Sisk, Benson and Taylor, free on bond, are charged with extortion and conspiracy to sell pardons and reprieves.

A federal grand jury now is investigating the pardon-selling scandal.

One Democratic legislative leader said he felt Blanton's night session was prompted by an opinion from Assistant Attorney General Tripp Hunt, which said — Republican Gov. elect Lamar Alexander could — if he desired — take the oath office before Saturday's inauguration. This would remove Blanton from office early and deprive him of his pardoning and clemency power.

But Alexander, who said he felt Blanton's "contempt for the people disgraces the office," said he had no plans to take the oath before the scheduled inauguration.
